
heya

Posted by soulpiercing - 2008/05/09 08:57

hello y'all.

nice to meet some of you at the last critical and midnight masses.
i've just recently moved here from Atlanta.
words cannot express how awesome bikes are.
peace
stephen

Re:heya

Posted by Chelsea - 2008/05/12 20:06

Hey man.

I didn't attend this past midnight mass but I saw your post and wanted to welcome you to our world here in SLC. I moved here from Savannah a little over a year ago and will be having my friend Matt Hawkins move from Snellville (ATL, I'm sure you know) in October. I'll see you at the next bike event I hope- maybe the gallery stroll on Friday?! Please make a point to say hi to me so I can meet you and introduce you to some more fun people. I'll be the gal with the gold rims ;) -Chelsea

Re:heya

Posted by soulpiercing - 2008/05/12 21:20

hey chelsea.

i think we might have met at the bike collective last Tuesday. maybe?
only i think i remember sandy springs,
not savannah.

i'm actually about to skip town for a bit, but i should be back by june's critical mass.

see ya,
stephen

Re:heya

Posted by Chelsea - 2008/05/13 19:10

Nope, couldn't have been me. I haven't been to the Collective on a Tuesday in months. I work on tuesday nights. Anyway, though, we must meet and talk about Georgia! Have a good trip wherever you are going and I'll hopefully be there in June!
-Chelsea
